Claudia Castellanos is the Founder & CEO of Connected World Translation Services (CWTS), the only translation company based and operated in Saskatchewan actively offering services in more than 40 languages. With 19 years of experience as a translator and hundreds of multilingual translation projects successfully completed under her direction in numerous fields, Claudia has been a key player for Canadian companies, organizations, and academic institutions aiming to enter international markets in countries such as China, Japan, Korea, Vietnam, Kuwait, Egypt, Germany, France, Russia, Brazil, Mexico, Colombia, Argentina, Chile, Ecuador, among others. Furthermore, Claudia and her team have engaged in translation projects with organizations and companies from Europe, Latin America, and the USA, and have also worked on translation projects with the Saskatchewan Ministries of Social Services and of Trade and Export Development. CWTS is proud to have received the 2019 Business Excellence Award for translators and interpreters and recognized in 2020 as an Invaluable Service Provider by the University of Regina International Office. Moreover, CWTS is an associate member of the Saskatchewan Trade and Export Partnership (STEP), a non-profit corporation dedicated to increase Saskatchewan's export activities and to promote its products and services internationally.

Prior to forming the company in 2013, Claudia was a freelance translator and lecturer in Spanish language at the Faculty of Arts, University of Regina. She holds a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Linguistics from the Autonomous University of Guadalajara (UAG) and a Master of Education Degree from the University of Regina (U of R). Claudia actively works with vital global economic sectors ranging from manufacturing, agriculture/agrivalue, mining, and forestry to education, providing language services to a wide array of public and private sector clients nationally and internationally. Claudia and her team have provided translation and interpretation services to companies attending major farming technology and livestock events such as Agritechnica in Germany, the Canada Farm Progress Show (CFPS), the Canadian Western Agribition, to name a few. Moreover, CWTS was also the main translation and interpretation service provider at the 18th North American Trilateral Carbon Capture, Utilization and Storage Conference hosted by the University of Regina. In addition, CWTS was proud to be the agency chosen by Euroconsult, the leading global consulting firm in space markets based in Paris, France to execute the translation of a 20,000+ word business plan proposal and the marketing materials for the Latin American Satellite Communication and Broadcasting Summit (LATSAT) in Mexico City.

CWTS prides itself on teaming up with more than 50 highly qualified professional translators including linguists, academics and certified translators from organizations that operate under the national body of the Canadian Translators, Terminologists, and Interpreters Council (CTTIC). With the vast experience and dedication of CWTS' translators across Canada, Claudia has been able to build an agency that delivers diverse and unique types of translations including technical, legal, administrative, medical, financial, website, script (videos), multimedia, as well as assisting law firms with their translation requirements. One of Claudia's main objectives is to continue supporting the ever-growing linguistically diverse community in Saskatchewan with their personal translation needs, especially for citizenship and other legal and government procedures.
